

8 Compelling Reasons To Partner With "The Actualizer"

1. 25+ Years of Diverse Real World Experience

Kendall C. Wright's expertise and experience comes from working and serving in a wide variety of organizations. He has experienced the ups and downs of the workplace. As a part-time telemarketer or as a SuccessFUL™ entrepreneur, he understands and identifies with individuals at all levels. Kendall's unique leadership profile speaks to his competence and commitment to aid you in actualizing your organizational and personal goals.

2. X-Ray Learning – Getting Under the Surface

Perhaps it's time to stop being distracted by the "symptoms" of skill outages and really delve into the root causes.

Remember how difficult it was to keep a beach ball underwater, the same is true organizationally – eventually issues will re-surface – and no degree of placation will recapture your squandered productivity. Kendall C. Wright's "X-ray learning" leads to improved productivity, confidence and competence.

3. Solution-Oriented

The pathway to viable solutions is paved with accountability. Kendall will help your organization to rethink the dynamics of accountable, thereby allowing a smooth transition from a "buck-passing" culture to an expectation-surpassing culture.

4. Boast Productivity, Proficiency and Profitability

A highly skilled team might be thought of as a fine-tuned and well-oiled timepiece. But if that timepiece becomes mistuned or scantily lubricated, the resulting friction will rob the timepiece and its owner of optimum performance.

5. A Learning Experience, Not Just An Event

Learning is a full-body experience. When "learners" are engaged and involved, the levels of enjoyment and retention go up dramatically. Kendall is masterful at pushing and pulling at the right times to create the excitement and thinking space required for learning and integration.

6. An Investment In Improvement

It's been said that the only thing worse than training employees and having them leave, is to not train them and have them stay. Without an investment there can be no return.

7. Treat Your Organization to Something "Different"

Prior to presenting for the National Association of Supply Managers, Kendall was out chatting with the group, getting to know them and their challenges. One participant remarked, "We've never had a speaker come and sit with us, and ask us about ourselves and our work. This is really different." Your organization deserves an expert with a personal touch.

8. 100% Commitment to Education, Engagement and Empowerment.
If being self-actualized means having fun while providing a service to humanity, Kendall is the personification of the concept. And it's contagious! Kendall makes this pledge – to deliver a professional, practical and powerful message – while inviting participants to learn and grow at their individual pace. Your employees, members or associates can't help but to join him.