Dear Mr. Wright:

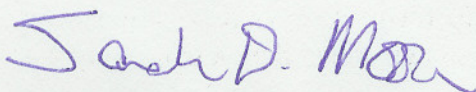

Heartfelt thanks for your participation as the keynote speaker at the African American Achievement Banquet held at Eastern Kentucky University on February 20, 2003. Your energy and message encouraged and motivated students toward unity, empowerment, and leadership.

In a time when young people are negatively enticed and encouraged to give up on their dreams, it is good to know that people like you serve as mentors, to motivate and train them to aspire to reach their highest potential. Your desire to make a positive difference in the lives of young people is much appreciated.

It would be my distinct pleasure and honor to recommend you as a guest speaker at any time, and endorse you and your credentials in this regard. I am confident that other organizations would benefit from your enthusiasm and beliefs.

Again, thank you for taking the time to share your wisdom with us, and look forward to working with you in the future.

Sincere Regards,

Sandra D. Moore
Special Assistant to the Provost for University Diversity
